EMBEDDING MULTICULTURALISM, DIVERSITY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE PRINCIPLES INTO PSYCHOTHERAPY PRACTICE

Patricia Arredondo, Colleen Logan, and Karen Westbrooks
Culturally responsive and ethical practice in psychotherapy has been advanced for nearly 50 years, evolving from the Civil Rights movement for inclusion and equity. Both the ACA, AAMFT & APA have promulgated standards to inform education and training, research, practice, and organizational behavior, however, there continue to be gaps in the application of said standards. This program will address macro and microlevels of multiculturalism and diversity in psychotherapy training and practice, Dimensions of Personal Identity, spirituality, biases and oppression, and terminology relevant to inclusive practices will be woven into the presentation.
LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Identify 3-4 cultural competency statements about one’s professional development
- Cite 3-4 cultural competency statements to inform one’s clinical practice
- Identify 3-4 organizational behaviors that are barriers to inclusion
- Define social justice principles to guide clinical practice
- Explain 3 reasons why the Dimensions need to be applied to counseling situations
- Cite 3 attributes of well-being, bolstered by spirituality and multiculturalism
